Subject - Question no 198 dated 1-10-1954 supplementary question by Shri M P L Sastri in respect of the desirability of fixing time-limit for collecting the arrears of entertainment tax

Comment
I am directed to state that a suggestion was made on 1-10-1954 on the floor of the Legislature for fixing a time limit for collecting the arrears of entertainment tax. Government are of ^{opinion} view that there is no need to fix a time limit for collecting arrears of entertainment tax.

I am therefore to request that the arrears due must should be collected as quickly as possible.

1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This involves conducting market research to determine what consumers want and what problems they are trying to solve. Once a need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept for a product that addresses that need. This is often done through brainstorming sessions with a team of designers and engineers. The concept is then refined through prototyping and testing, and finally, a detailed design is created. The design is then manufactured and distributed to the market. The process is iterative, with feedback from consumers and the market being used to refine the product and its marketing strategy.
